MILLION IS AT STAKE IN SUIT OVER QUARRIES

Ownership of Valuable Haddington Island Property Challenged in Court

Company Defendants in Action to Secure Damages For Heirs

Claiming $1,000,000 for alleged wrongful trespass and removal of building stone from Haddington Island, W. A. Brethour has filed a writ in the Supreme Court for the heirs of the estates of the late Samuel Gray, Alden W. Huxon and Henry Rudge, against the Haddington Island Quarry Company.

The litigation is for a declaration of ownership in favor of the heirs of the three men whom plaintiffs say, were possessed of the property.

BIG DAMAGES SOUGHT
The action is for damages to the extent of $1,000,000 for alleged trespass and the removal of stone; for an accounting as to the profits and rentals on the property; for a declaration that the property is owned by the plaintiffs and held by the defendants as mortgagees in trust for plaintiffs; for the appointment of a receiver and manager, and for such other relief as the court may see fit to grant.

Haddington Island is the site of extensive stone quarries, where large quantities of building stone are quarried for use in the Coast building trades.

DRIVER IS EXONERATED

Accidental Death is Verdict at Inquest on John Playfoot

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury sitting today at the B.C. Funeral Parlors in inquest on the body of John Playfoot, eight-year-old victim of the pathetic automobile fatality at Douglas and Johnson Streets on Saturday.

W. J. McArthur, driver of the car which passed over the boy, who stumbled in its path, was exonerated, after freely offering his evidence to the inquest. Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart pronounced the boy dead.

RAN INTO CAR
The evidence of all witnesses called before the jury showed that the boy was crossing Johnson Street obliquely, half running and half walking, when he stumbled in the path of a car slowly crossing the intersection and entering Johnson Street.

The driver of the car applied his brakes at once, but the front wheel of the vehicle passed slowly over the boy, who had fallen on his face on the street, and inflicted chest injuries, which proved fatal. The car was stopped before the rear wheel had reached the boy, who crawled to the curb. There he collapsed.

TELL OF ACCIDENT
Herbert Baillie told of seeing the occurrence and of helping to extricate the boy. Harry Smith and George Cornish, other eye-witnesses at the scene, corroborated the circumstances of the accident.

Mr. McArthur, the driver of the car, said he had just driven slowly across the intersection, going west on Johnson Street, when the boy appeared from his right and almost immediately under the car. He applied the brakes at once, but the front wheel passed over the boy, who had stumbled. Witness was not certain if the car struck the boy before he fell or not. Other witnesses said the boy appeared to stumble in the path of the car.

Dr. Walter Batty, who picked up the boy and removed him to hospital, described the injuries, which proved fatal.

A younger brother of the victim of the fatality saw the accident from the curb, a few feet behind the point of impact, but his evidence was waived when it was explained he was suffering from shock.

BRAKES SATISFACTORY
The accident occurred at 10.55 a.m. Saturday, and death came at 7.30 a.m. Monday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Constable James Patterson of the city police told of responding to the trouble call, and of measuring marks at the scene. The car had skidded between seven and eight feet, and its brakes had been in good order, he said. There was little doubt about the cause of the accident, stated Coroner Hart, who complimented Mr. McArthur in freely offering his evidence. The jury returned in a few minutes with a verdict of accidental death, exonerating

NORTHCOTT BEFORE JUDGE FOR REMAND

Vancouver, Oct. 2.—In a session lasting less than fifteen minutes Gordon Stewart Northcott, wanted on murder charges in California, was remanded until October 10 when he appeared before Judge H. S. ## LITTLE WRONG, POOLEY SORRY, THINKS MANSON

Former Attorney-General Thanks Successor For Adopting His Policies

Davidson and McMullen Good Men and Administrations Should Be Left Alone

Euler Also Enters Controversy and Says Pooley Charges "Poppycock"

Vancouver, Oct. 2.—The Hon. R. H. Pooley, my successor as Attorney-General of this Province, seems to be just waking up," said A. M. Manson, K.C., in whose hands the affairs of the department rested during the years of Liberal rule in British Columbia. Mr. Manson was commenting on the liquor and police policies which the Attorney-General recently announced.

"In office," Mr. Manson said, "Hon. Mr. Pooley has just discovered that the liquor and police policies of the last session of the Dominion Parliament and which prohibits the importation of liquor by anyone other than the Crown or a distiller, is a good and useful piece of legislation. And yet out of office and in the Legislature he has done nothing to assist the Government in procuring the passage of this same legislation."

NOT PAID FOR
In court yesterday W. H. Bullock-Webster appeared for two firms having a lien interest in the car. He pointed out that under the act the Magistrate had no discretion in ordering the confiscation of the car. He stated that the car was not fully paid for, exhibiting an agreement of sale showing that $1,769.12 was still owing. He thought it would be unfair to order the car forfeited.

Stuart Henderson represented Kent Henry, owner of the car in question. On the stand Mr. Henderson admitted ownership of the vehicle, but declared he knew nothing of the trip made by Miles with unsealed liquor.

WAS CONVICTED
Witnesses admitted he had been convicted of selling liquor on May 14, 1928, but said this car was not used in conveying liquor.

Mr. Henderson, summing up, submitted there was no evidence to show the owner of the car knew for what his property was being used.

The defence evidence included the calling of police witnesses who testified regarding the arrest of Miles and the seizure of the car.

MORRISON CAR
In the case of Roy Morrison, who pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of selling liquor and to having unsealed liquor, the court should have been made at that time, he said. This objection was overruled and the case proceeded, later being adjourned, however, when it was discovered that the Eagle Taxi Company, owners of the vehicle, were not represented in court.

DISCOVERY OF LIQUOR
Corporal W. A. McBryne, Corporal C. C. Clarke and Sgt. Robert Owens of the provincial police, gave evidence regarding the seizure of the car and discovery of liquor in it. Corporal Clarke testified that after returning with the car to the provincial police headquarters, he should have been made at that time, he said. This objection was overruled and the case proceeded, later being adjourned, however, when it was discovered that the Eagle Taxi Company, owners of the vehicle, were not represented in court.

As a result of today's hearing, only three cases remain to be settled out of a total of thirteen, which resulted from police raids last Thursday night. Five charges were withdrawn yesterday when the Crown Prosecutor declined to introduce the evidence of "toot pigeons," four fines were collected when accused pleaded guilty or were convicted and now the tenth case, that of the confiscation of the Miles car, has been decided.

Proposed confiscation of the cars driven by Roy Morrison and Charles Cronk remains to be settled, while the charge against Elizabeth Alexander of keeping liquor for sale will be heard to-morrow.

The by-law is a formal measure to approve the wording of the debentures in regard to the city's guarantee. It will be passed finally at a meeting of the council to be held for the purpose on Wednesday morning.

The children, one seventeen months old, and the other only four months, were drowned in the bathtub in the Lagrois home.

After the children had been asphyxiated by drowning, as the verdict of the coroner's jury put it, Mrs. Lagrois attempted suicide by poisoning herself.

Upon her recovery, Mrs. Lagrois was charged with murder and lodged in the Cornwall jail.

NEUTRAL FOR STOCK SALESMAN

Vancouver, Oct. 2.—By a majority judgment, Al Marks who had been sentenced to seven years imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for conspiracy to defraud the public in connection with stock transactions, was granted a new trial by the court of appeal, which convened here today.

The appeal of Charles P. Porter, who was jointly indicted and convicted with Marks, was dismissed and as a result Porter must serve a seven-year term, which had been imposed by Mr. Justice Macdonald.

Chief Justice Macdonald announced that he would allow the appeals of both prisoners and would order their discharge from custody. Mr. Justice Gallie, on the other hand, would dismiss both appeals in toto. Mr. Justices Martin and A. M. Macdonald would dismiss Porter's appeal, but would allow Marks' appeal to the extent of granting that prisoner a new trial.

Water Power Argument Opens To-day In Ottawa

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—Argument on the question of Dominion and Provincial rights to waterpowers opened in the Supreme Court this morning. Ten questions have been placed before the court for adjudication on a reference by order-in-council with a view to deciding "the whole question of the division of legislative control over the proprietary interest in water-power," as between the Federal authorities and the provinces.

While the authority of the Dominion over navigation is involved, the main issue to be fought out is the matter of control of waterpowers incidental to navigation. These questions arose at the Provincial Premiers conference, held in Ottawa about a year ago and as a consequence of the discussion which took place the reference now before the court was subsequently prepared.

The Dominion Government and the provinces of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia were represented by counsel when Chief Justice Anglin requested that argument on the issue be opened.

A FULL BENCH
The legal battle on the question of Dominion and provincial control over navigation and water powers opened with a full bench of seven judges occupying judicial seats.

Facing the bench was an array of eminent counsel utilizing every available space at counsel table. In the courtroom also were parties indirectly interested in the question which involves development of the potential waterpowers of the St. Lawrence, inland-inter-provincial in character, development of waterpower on the Ottawa River and a number of other power projects. ## BRITISH LABOR SEES DANGER OF NEW WAR

Ramsay MacDonald Drafts Resolution Scoring Foreign Policy

Europe Headed For Tragedy Like That of 1914, Says Navy Man

Birmingham, Eng., Oct. 2.—Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor Premier, presented a comprehensive resolution of world peace and disarmament at the Labor Party Congress today.

The resolution demanded that the Government sign a general act of arbitration; that the Anglo-French naval agreement be abandoned; that an effective disarmament treaty be signed and that all foreign troops be unconditionally withdrawn from the Rhineland.

Mr. MacDonald called his proposal a "full blooded, unqualified condemnation of the Government's foreign policy."

Sir Oswald Mosely, in seconding the resolution, said the United States note on the Anglo-French accord was the greatest rebuke which any country had ever addressed to another on its record of muddle and tragedy.

After several speeches in favor of the resolution, it was adopted. Commander Kenworthy, Labor M.P. who was on the Admiralty War Staff in 1917, in a spirited speech said Europe was headed for the same tragedy that occurred in 1914. He continued: WAR DANGER

"The danger of war between this country and the United States and between France and Italy is as real as the danger of war between this country and Germany in 1906. You have again the unofficial, but nevertheless binding, conversations between staffs in Paris and staffs in London."

The Labor Party's resolution welcomes the Kellogg pact for the outlawry of war, but notes with "profound disappointment" that its declarations have been accepted with reservations and that many governments are preparing in the "pre-war spirit" policies which prevent progress toward disarmament.

MURDER THEORY NOW ADVANCED

Santa Cruz Sheriff Questions Suicide Story in Mrs. Mead's Case

Santa Cruz, Cal., Oct. 2.—Convinced that Mrs. Cora Mead, wife of a wealthy Chicago manufacturer, who was found shot to death here last week was murdered, Sheriff N. P. Sinnott of Santa Cruz County today continued his efforts to solve the mystery.

Sheriff Sinnott announced definitely last night that he considered the case one of murder rather than suicide after he had conferred with August Vollmer, chief of police of Berkeley, a prominent criminologist.

The sheriff said he based his belief on the disclosure that the body of Mrs. Mead showed no signs of powder burns and upon the fact that discrepancies had been found in the story of L. A. Thornehill, who for six years was known here as Mrs. Mead's husband. Thornehill is being held on an open charge pending further investigation of the case. He has admitted being with the woman a few hours before the killing took place.

The couple met in Canada while Thornehill was in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The Conservative Government that in 1925 succeeded a Liberal regime of forty-three years, received re-election yesterday at the polls, but the majority of thirty-seven, enjoyed by the party in the last Legislature, was cut to three as the Liberal oppositionists registered a net gain of seventeen seats. At the time of dissolution thirty-seven Conservatives and three Liberals sat in the House of Assembly, three Conservative seats being vacant.

CUT DAMAGES AGAINST MARTIN

Award of $500 For Assault Reduced By Appeal Court

Vancouver, Oct. 2.—Appeal of Donald B. Martin, industrial commissioner, Victoria, from a judgment of Mr. Justice Morrison, who awarded the plaintiff, Walter Hodgkinson, $341.46 damages for assault, succeeded to the extent that the British Columbia Court of Appeal today reduced the damages to $10.

The plaintiff explained Chief Justice Macdonald will have no costs in the case and the appellant recovers costs of the appeal.

By arrangement between counsel an analogous claim against the industrial commissioner by H. C. Dunn will be disposed of in the same manner.

The litigation arose out of a dispute over the plant on Granville Island of Voltinger Engines, (1920) Limited. The Provincial Department of Industries had seized the machinery under a conditional sale agreement, and named counsel, Mr. J. F. Smith, son and Dunn, on behalf of the company's custodian, took possession of the premises. It was alleged that Mr. Smith caused three removals from the plant and flung them out on the street.

SMITH FLAYS REPUBLICANS

Democratic Presidential Candidate Talks on New York Affairs

Running Mate Scores Hoover For Silence on Prohibition

Rochester, N.Y., Oct. 2.—In an address which stirred the Democratic state-convention here last night to a high pitch of enthusiasm, Governor Smith centred an attack on Republican leaders, whom he accused of conniving to block to state issues and policies and appealed to the voters of the commonwealth to retain direction of the state's public affairs in the hands of the Democrats.

The Democratic presidential candidate's speech, which provoked round after round of cheering, was devoted entirely to state issues. He reviewed his record as governor, defending it with as much vigor as he showed in hammering away at his Republican opposition.

Wichita, Kas., Oct. 2.—A Kansas audience from which came shouts of "What about prohibition?" was told last night by Senator Charles McNary, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, that neither the Democratic nor Republican party was dry and "I want you to get that and go your way with it."

"You know," he shouted, "neither party has ever declared for prohibition in its platform. Governor Smith has told you where he stands but Herbert Hoover never has taken the U. S. people into his confidence. You don't know whether he favors modification or not."

CHANGES COSTLY SAYS WOODWARD

Underwriters' Report Termed "Smoke-screen" By Committee Chairman

Recommendations to City on Fire Prevention Would Cost $250,000

It would cost in the neighborhood of $250,000 to carry out the recommendations of the B.C. Fire Underwriters' Association, Alderman E. S. Woodward, chairman of the committee, told the City Council last night.

F. M. Preston, City Engineer, had been asked for his report on the recommendations made, and this would be laid before the council in due course, stated the chairman. Meanwhile, he said, it would serve the council to know that a quarter of a million would be the cost of the changes advised by the underwriters in this connection.

He was of the belief that the thirty-one page report by the underwriters might be fairly considered as "something of a smoke screen" in response to the city's request for stringent cuts in the fire insurance rates, concluded Mr. Woodward.

The council agreed to hold a meeting with the underwriters, but left the date of the meeting open until the return of Mayor J. C. Pendray to the city.

BIG AUDIENCE CONVULSED BY GEORGE ROBEY

Ovation Greets English Comedian in Revue "Bits and Pieces" at Royal

If George Robey is, as he claims to be, "the last of the red-nosed comedians," then future generations are destined to miss much of the humor and fun created by the class of entertainment of which he is undoubtedly the most famous exponent in the world. His absurd make-up, with the famous eyebrows, the mere lift of which can convey volumes, his terse asides to the audience, his inimitable imitations of bibulous old women and blushing brides, are irresistible, and a big audience at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night went from one convulsion of laughter into another through the whole of the entertaining revue, "Bits and Pieces."

A GREAT WELCOME. Barely has such a vociferous welcome been given to any company in Victoria, and at the close Mr. Robey acknowledged the ovation in characteristic vein. Expressing his company's united appreciation of Victoria's "wonderful welcome to our show," he musingly commented on the renewal of his acquaintance with former English theatre-goers now in Canada, stating that while he was quite prepared to welcome those who had seen him twenty years ago, he resented being remembered as "a color sergeant at the Battle of Waterloo."

In Marie Blanche Mr. Robey has the ideal leading lady, a perfect foil to his unique art, and he would no doubt be the first to admit that much of the success of the revue and of his particular share in it is due to her. Of delightful personality, she sings beautifully, dances gracefully, yet combines with these attributes unusual

THE FINEST OF ALL BLENDS*FAULTY METERS BIG DOWNPOUR CAUSING LOSS HITS VICTORIA

City Decides to Spend $2,000 on New Water Registers

Rain at Rate of 1.2 Inches an Hour One of Heaviest Recorded

Loss of revenue from the under-registration of water meters employed at some points in the city's water supply system, are costing the corporation a loss in revenue. It was reported to the City Council last night by the water committee. The council authorized the expenditure of $2,000 for new meters to put the defects right.

The water committee also reported on the recommendations of F. M. Preston, city engineer, urging that Sooke Lake timber limits be subjected to a general survey and a gradual process of logging and reforestation. The council referred the report to the council of 1929 for consideration.

One of the heaviest precipitations of rain on record here occurred during the two-minute period at 4.37 p.m. yesterday, according to instruments at the Gonzales Observatory. During this two minutes .04 inches of rain fell, which would be equivalent to 1.2 inches of rain per hour. The heaviest downpour of the day occurred between the hours of 4 and 5 p.m.

Bringing relief to forest fire-fighters in several localities, and water for electrical power supplies, the heavy rain was generally welcomed where it fell.

According to figures at the Gonzales Meteorological Observatory, .71 inches of rain fell here during the day from 1 a.m. to 6 p.m. This was equivalent to the total rainfall in Victoria during the previous two months.

Forestry Branch officials joyously welcomed the downfall, following the unusually dry summer, which has meant a heavy fire toll. Dry conditions during the summer at Jordan River have necessitated the use of the B.C. Electric Railway Company's auxiliary steam plant at Brentwood for the supplying of power. For this reason the precipitation was particularly acceptable to company officials.

gifts as a comedienne—a rare combination.

AT PICCADILLY

One of the funniest bits of the evening was the scene at Piccadilly Circus with Robey and Miss Blanche as typical Cockney flower-sellers. Robey, in a precariously-perched bonnet on his grey locks, dilapidated dress and shawl, surreptitiously drinking "medicine" from a bottle, and Miss Blanche telling of the doings of "my husband, 'Erb,' is something to be remembered and laughed over for a long time.

In the art of keeping an audience amused with patter, and in singing a comic song Robey is inimitable. In his turn, "Stuff and Nonsense," he held the stage alone for nearly a quarter of an hour while his audience got almost hysterical over his quips. As the satin-gowned, veiled bride rejoicing over having caught a man at last, as Hamesses, the reincarnation of an ancient Egyptian king, as the London bobby in the song, "It's Nothing to Do With Us," or as the Cockney owner of a wheel stall, he is the epitome of humor.

The balance of the company is excellent. Jenny Dean is a dainty soubrette, and the eight Hippodrome girls dance beautifully in a series of colorful numbers. Robert Layton is but one of the many excellent singers in the cast, while the Three Royces in their acrobatic demonstration brought down the house. The revue is beautifully staged and costumed.

"Bits and Pieces" will be played to-night and to-morrow night and on Wednesday afternoon. On Thursday an entirely new revue, "Between Ourselves," will be presented.

Victorians should not miss the opportunity of hearing a comedian whose name is a household word wherever he has appeared, and of seeing one of the best all-round entertainments ever given in this city.

MANY MINISTERS AWAY FROM TOWN

Few Members of Executive at Parliament Buildings This Week

Few members of the Cabinet are in their offices at the Parliament Buildings, the only Ministers available this morning being Premier S. F. Tolmie, Hon. F. P. Burden, Minister of Lands; Hon. W. S. Shelly, Minister of Finance; and Hon. Joshua Hineshine, Minister of Education.

Hon. N. S. Loughheed, Minister of Public Works, is confined to his room at the Empress Hotel, suffering from a severe cold.

Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General, is absent from the city for a week, having closed his office on Saturday.

Hon. Joshua Hineshine, Minister of Education, arrived in his office to-day after an absence of several weeks, devoted to a tour of the interior, including an inspection of the Doukhobor settlements.

Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, will be absent from Victoria for ten days in Vancouver.

Hon. W. Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, also will be an absentee for ten days.

Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines, has been visiting his home in Penticton and is expected to arrive in Vancouver shortly.

Hon. R. L. Mainland, Minister without portfolio, has yet to enjoy his first view of the handsomely redecorated quarters provided for him. The room was previously devoted to the privacy of Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith.

POLICE REFORM MALKIN'S AIM

Mr. Malkin presented a programme of fifteen points which he promised would receive his immediate attention if he were elected mayor.

"We do not want a 'closed' town. We do not want an 'open' town. We want a town where the police force is

OVER-CONFIDENCE

Hon. R. N. Rhodes, Premier of Nova Scotia, gave the Canadian Press tonight the following statement:

"The returns would indicate that we suffered because of over-confidence of our supporters who were so certain of the return of the Government that they did not put forth the same effort as would have been the case had they thought the issue of the campaign would have been closer. Moreover, the returns would appear to indicate that the revision of the voters' list, which had been left in the hands of the municipal authorities, had resulted in a very large number of Conservatives, at least sufficient to affect the result in a number of constituencies. The best evidence of this is the fact that many citizens of Halifax, of the best standing, found to-day that their names were not on the list. The Government will reap the benefit in the next few years of progressive policies which they initiated, the effects of which will be more apparent to the electors in future years."

"I am particularly sorry for the defeat of the Minister of Natural Resources, who gave unsparingly of his time and of his undoubted ability in showing the lead to agricultural development, as well as with respect to the other policies of the Government. We broke so much new ground and disturbed so many old conditions that the people have yet to appreciate the benefits that will accrue from our policies."

"I also very deeply regret the loss of three esteemed colleagues without portfolio, Dr. Rehrum, Dr. LeBlanc and Capt. Cahane. The last named has performed a very real service to his constituents in the matter of hydro development, and to the province as a whole in his untiring work in the Department of Highways, and as a member of the hydro commission. To one who has paid such a great penalty for his patriotic services in the war, his defeat is much to be regretted."

Asked over the telephone to Antigonish for a statement, Hon. William Chisholm, leader of the opposition, declared last night:

"Liberals never fight better than when they fight against great odds. The result of to-day's polling affords conclusive proof of this. Naturally, I am distinctly gratified as I am certain every Liberal in Nova Scotia is gratified that within three short years of the decisive defeat of 1925, the Liberal Party has reformed its ranks and elected twenty members to the legislature out of a possible forty-three. Mr. Rhodes has been taught that public office is a public trust."

"The chief aim of Liberalism is not so much the holding of office as it is to secure responsible government for the good of the people. I can assure the people of Nova Scotia that in the next House of Assembly Liberal members will insist upon the return of responsible government to Nova Scotia and that the Rhodes administration will be held to strict accountability for its administrative acts."

GRATIFIED

Ottawa, Oct. 2.—"I have received the results from good old Nova Scotia with great interest," declared Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice and Acting Prime Minister, last night, when informed of the result of the general election in the Atlantic province. Mr. Lapointe declined to make further comment on the election beyond intimating his gratification over the issue.

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, who is in Calgary, is expected to make a statement to-morrow after he has had time to review the final result.

The election result was cabled to the Prime Minister, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in Paris.

BENNETT'S VIEWS

Calgary, Oct. 2.—"No national significance can be attached to the election in Nova Scotia," stated Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Conservative Party in the Dominion House, in an interview here on Tuesday.

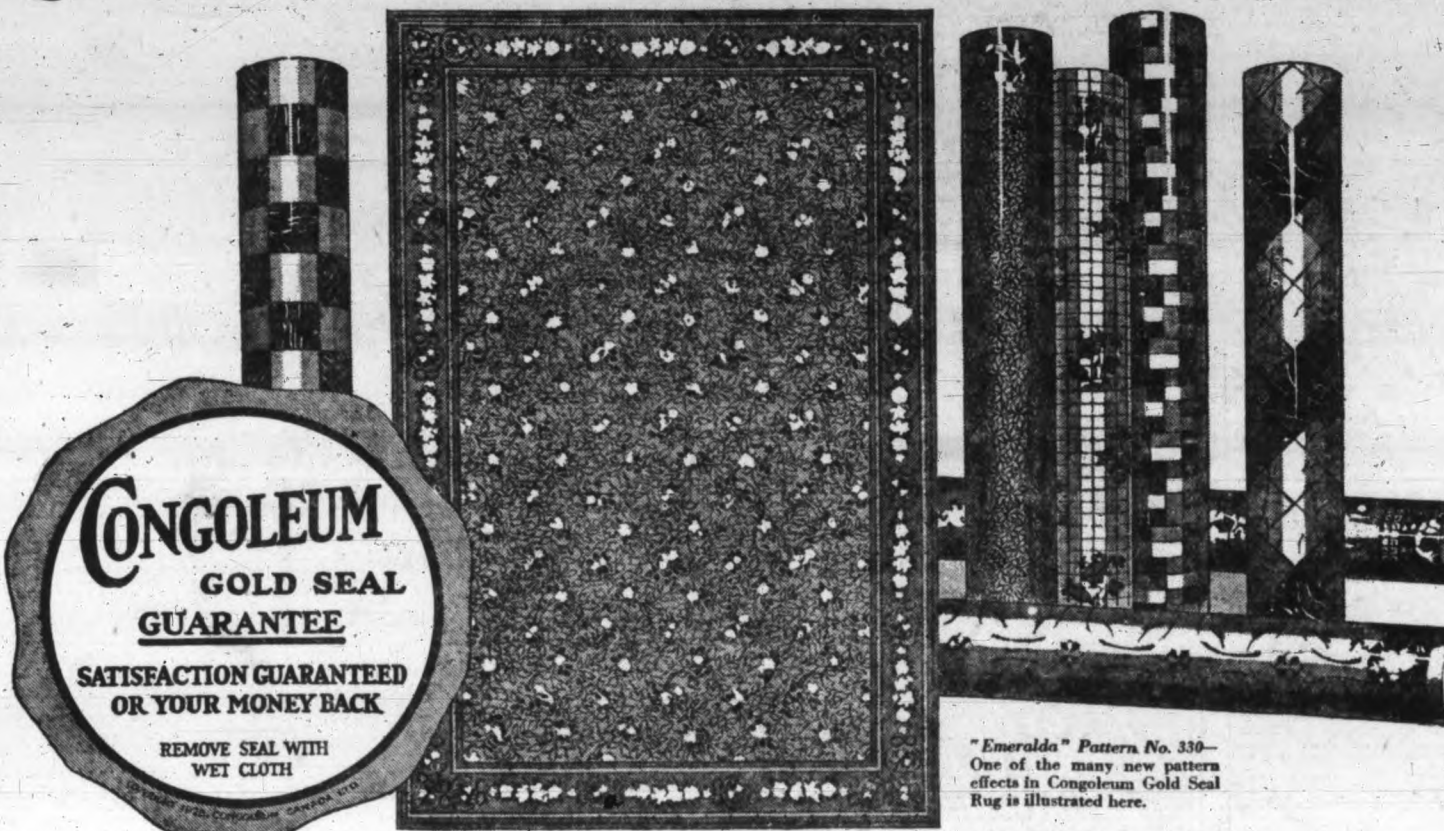

"It was conceded that the Liberals would make a greatly increased representation," he added.

Premier R. N. Rhodes of Nova Scotia, Mr. Bennett said, had already indicated why the Liberal representation was so large. The leader of the Conservative Party stated, however, that two matters had impressed him when he was traveling through Nova Scotia. One was that the settlers off the main arteries of traffic were of the opinion that too much money was being spent on the main highways for the benefit of tourists and that the roads in the more rural parts of the province were not receiving sufficient attention. The second matter was that the Federal Government had introduced a test of the cattle in the province for tuberculosis and the Provincial Government aided in that work. A large number of cattle were found to be diseased and ordered to be destroyed.

The compensation paid, said Mr. Bennett, was about $40 a head and the leading Liberal organ in the province commenced a propaganda against the Government which had a great effect.

"But the main cause of the result," said Mr. Bennett, "is to be found in the over-confidence of the Government and the very great activity of its opponents."

PREMIER RHODES'S NEAR-DEFEAT

THE RHODES GOVERNMENT IN NOVA
Scotia received a severe shock at the polls yesterday. Its membership of thirty-seven in the last House has been reduced to twenty-three, its opponents, led by Hon. William Chisholm, registering a net gain of seventeen seats. After the Government has appointed a Speaker, therefore, its margin in the House will be two, scarcely sufficient to enable it to carry on with any prospect of remaining the full term.

The explanation Mr. Rhodes gives of his near-defeat is rather amusing. He says it was the result of the over-confidence of his own supporters; they were so certain that his Government would "win the day with little trouble and with a majority sufficient for all purposes that they did not turn out and vote as they should have done. This is not a fault of which the Conservatives usually are guilty. Nor do we imagine that yesterday's result furnished any exception from the general rule. Their organization seldom suffers in this regard. The same cannot always be said of the Liberals; but their successful assault upon the Government on this occasion obviously was the result of a determined effort to restore the party's fortunes, which, for the brief space of three years, had been in eclipse as far as legislative representation was concerned.

For forty-three years prior to 1925 a Liberal Government had been in office in Nova Scotia and, with the exception of a short period, ever since Confederation. Nor was the defeat of the Liberal Administration three years ago very difficult to understand. The Times pointed out on that occasion that the decisive verdict against the Armstrong regime was not intended as an indication of any change in the political complexion of the province. That campaign very largely was fought on the question of Maritime Rights. Little attention was paid by the electors to the numerous matters solely within provincial jurisdiction. But they were vitally concerned in the major issue and they defeated the Government in order that the Administration at Ottawa might know that the time for action had arrived. Since then a number of reforms which the Duncan Commission—appointed by the King Government—recommended have been put into operation with satisfactory results.

The striking feature about the Government's narrow escape from defeat yesterday is that such a complete reversal of public sentiment should have taken place so shortly after the new Administration had assumed office with one of the largest majorities ever piled up in a provincial general election. It proves in the most convincing manner that Nova Scotia has not really wavered in its adherence to the principles of Liberalism. It furnishes ample proof, moreover, that the explanation of the events of 1925 lay, as The Times pointed out, not in any complaint which the people of the province had against the Liberal regime of that time, but in what they considered was a lack of consideration of their just grievances by the authorities at Ottawa. Nor is it any secret that the Federal Conservative Party in Nova Scotia has lost a good deal of its ground.

Another interesting point about yesterday's verdict is that a short time ago Hon. R. B. Bennett, leader of the Federal Conservative Party, conducted an intensive speaking tour of the Maritime Provinces and paid special attention to Nova Scotia, obviously having in mind the approaching provincial contest. In nearly all of his speeches he preached his familiar gospel of gloom and high protection. What Premier Rhodes is thinking about the assistance which the Federal Conservative leader gave him we may not be permitted to know. Both he and Mr. Bennett, however, now will be reluctantly compelled to admit that the electors have definite views on Federal and provincial affairs.

THE FALLACY OF HIGH PROTECTION

A CONSERVATIVE NEWSPAPER SAYS
Hon. R. B. Bennett "is performing a service to his country by pointing out the urgent need of protecting Canadian workmen against the lower wages and living conditions of European countries." Germany and Italy are the two most important countries which it singles out.

Generalizations often sound well; but they usually lose any point they might have as soon as they are explained in detail. It is so in the case of our trade with Germany and Italy. In the twelve-months ending with last July, for instance, the value of our sales to Germany amounted to $43,008,491 and the value of our purchases $18,277,131, or a balance in our favor of $24,731,360. Compared with the trading interchange for the previous year our sales increased about $9,000,000 and our purchases by considerably short of $3,000,000. In the case of Italy, for the year ending with last July, we bought goods to the value of $4,331,565 and sold goods to the value of $15,606,284, or a balance in our favor of $11,274,719. In the previous twelve months we enjoyed a larger advantage.

The average businessman is fully aware that Canada cannot do all the selling and none of the buying. But that seems to be the theory of the leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons. Mr. Bennett, for instance, is strangely inconsistent in his fiscal arguments and ignores certain economic and natural laws as if they did not exist. One day he is advocating the establishment of an imperial economic unit and the next day he would abolish the British Preference until the British Government consented to tax the British people still more for the benefit of a few Canadian producers.

We hear a good deal from Mr. Bennett about the export of raw materials, particularly to the United States. But what would happen to the great textile industry of Canada, employing many thousands of workers, if, say, the republic on the south put an embargo on the export of raw cotton? Supplies of this commodity to the value of nearly $25,000,000 have to be brought in annually—and we cannot do without them. What would Great Britain do under similar circumstances? How would the great mills of Lancashire fare?

Mr. Bennett and his supporters are preaching an economic doctrine which is unsound in its application in the broadest sense and which would increase the cost of commodities to the consumer in order that a few might profit. Incidentally, in the matter of raw material export, it might be observed that the United States exports more of it in proportion to its export of manufactured products than Canada does.

WHO TOLD HIM?

IN A RECENT STATEMENT BISHOP
Lloyd of Saskatchewan said he had heard that the Canadian High Commissioner in London, Hon. Peter Larkin, was opposed to emigration to Canada from Great Britain. Mr. Larkin has replied by saying that the statement of the Saskatchewan prelate is "utterly unfounded."

Bishop Lloyd should know that the Canadian High Commissioner has nothing to do with immigration. Mr. J. Bruce Walker is the Superintendent of Emigration for Canada in Great Britain and he is answerable to the Department of Immigration and Colonization at Ottawa, not to Mr. Larkin.

Since the High Commissioner has answered Bishop Lloyd with the simplest denial, however, the Bishop, who we presume desires to be fair, either should make public the source of his incorrect information or apologize, or both. He has had a good deal to say about immigration of late; but much of it obviously has been wide of the truth.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FOR A CHANGE
The Springfield Union
The suggestion, which comes from Chicago, that we ought to have a National Soft Drink Week sounds reasonable. After nearly nine years of prohibition a soft drink ought to taste pretty good for a change.

OBSERVING THE LAW
The Winnipeg Tribune
Civilization is successful in proportion as laws are wise, also in proportion as they are obeyed. Civilization had to travel a long way before it came to be accepted that even an unwise law ought to be obeyed so long as it was allowed to remain on the statute books. It is easy for a citizen to justify his own conduct when he breaks a law he considers unwise. But it is difficult to see how that same citizen can place any faith in the protective power of law when he himself is an example of contempt for law.

The layman has the same privilege as the lawyer to protest against, and to fight against what he conceives to be an unjust law. He has not, however, the moral right to break it. To argue that he had, would be to subscribe to the theory that every man had the right to be a law unto himself. If that were true we had better give up civilization and all seek desert islands where we would be compelled only to obey the laws imposed on us by nature.

WHEAT AND THE ST. LAWRENCE CANAL
La Presse (Ind.)

For the purposes of export, the United States this year will have apparently about 75,000,000 bushels of wheat, while Canada should have, at the lowest figure, 400,000,000, or even possibly 450,000,000. Now this establishes very clearly the relative positions of the two countries with regard to the problem of exporting wheat on the world market, especially in connection with facilities for its evacuation. If we consider the fact that the exportation of American wheat is carried on to-day almost as much by Pacific as it is by Atlantic routes, we shall find that in so far as the evacuation of American grain is concerned, the demanded canalization of the St. Lawrence could only affect this year a probable maximum of forty or fifty-five million bushels of wheat. And if we consider the fact that the dispatch of this wheat will necessarily be divided between the different American Atlantic ports, it would be more accurate to fix at some twenty to thirty million bushels the quantity of American wheat which could possibly benefit by the proposed canal. In brief, a mere trifle!

A THOUGHT

Life is constantly weighing us in very sensitive scales and telling every one of us precisely what his real weight is to the last grain of dust.—Lowell.

BRIDGE MADE EASY

by W. W. Wentworth

(Abbreviations: A—ace; K—king; Q—queen; J—jack; X—any card lower than 10.)

EXPERT VERSUS NOVICE
As a general guide to winning play, the following plan is offered:

1—Let game be your object if you are the declarer.

2—Let the prevention of game be your object if you are on the defensive.

3—Determine your losing cards and plan to convert them into winners.

4—Draw trumps unless there is some good reason for delaying.

In these chapters various principles governing the manipulation of the cards have been explained and numerous winning plays have been illustrated. It is not enough, however, to know merely what these tactics are—you must be quick to recognize opportunities to use them in actual play. They are all based on sound logic—your ability to select the strategic moments to apply them will make an average winner of you. Of course, there are other shabby plays, used by experts, but these are the fundamentals.

During the game, the novice feels a certain amount of tension. It is the same feeling which the inexperienced actor encounters. At bridge it may be overcome by hesitating before beginning to play. The time for a careful analysis of the situation is when the bidding has been terminated. Again, the importance of planning your campaign before playing a card must be stressed. The declarer should try to find a way to convert losing tricks into winning tricks before he touches any card in the dummy.

The player who approaches the game with the spirit that there is a problem to be solved, does not consider the loss of a game or two vital, does not complain about poor cards or hard luck and does not vacillate during the progress of the game, will not only find ever-increasing fascination and relaxation in the game as he progresses, but will gain the enviable title of being a most acceptable partner wherever bridge is played.

START AUDIT OF ACCOUNTS OF PROVINCE
Government Financial Investigation to Cover Every Department

Hon. W. C. Shelly, Minister of Finance, announced yesterday the immediate commencement of a special audit of the accounts of the Province, to be undertaken by Helliwell, MacIsaac and Company of Vancouver.

The minister stated that the audit was being undertaken to implement the election pledges of Premier Toole, given when financial information, provided by members of the former Government, was denounced as inaccurate by Conservative election speakers.

Mr. Shelly outlined the duties of the auditors in the following announcement:

"The scope of the investigation will include the Land Settlement Board, Liquor Control Board, the Workmen's Compensation Board activities, as well as the South Okanagan Project and the various irrigation schemes carried out under the Conservation Fund, also the Department of Industries."

"It will also embrace a complete audit of sinking funds and superannuation fund, etc., and a complete financial statement of the affairs of the Province will be made up to August 31. This statement will include an examination into the cost plus contracts awarded by the late Government on the University, road contracts, Sumas Drying Project, etc. The auditors will start their work forthwith."

Bright Youth—Old man, I want to tell you how much I appreciate your lecture last night.

Lecturer (dubiously)—Thanks, but I thought you were over at your girl's house.

"I was; her parents went to hear you."

WINN NAMED TO PENSIONS BOARD

Chairman of Workmen's Compensation Board to Represent British Columbia

E. S. H. Winn, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, was yesterday named by Hon. W. A. McKenzie as Minister of Labor, the representative of British Columbia on the National Old Age Pensions Board soon to be created.

The new Federal body will include representatives of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Yukon, Territories and British Columbia, in addition to a Federal appointee.

The Board will have important duties as a clearing house for pension payments between the provinces, as payments to individual beneficiaries will be shared by the provinces according to the period of residence.

In addition, the new organization will prepare recommendations for change in the pensions act and methods of administration.

LARGE PAYMENTS
Since old age pensions came into effect British Columbia beneficiaries have received $629,287, of which the Province has paid fifty per cent, the remainder being contributed by the Federal treasury.

It is expected that the burden on the provincial treasury will be considerably lightened following the institution of the new Federal Board and the transference to other provinces of a share of the payments to British Columbians originally residents of other provinces. It is expected that Ontario will shortly initiate pensions for the aged and this action will be an important relief to the treasury of British Columbia.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY
The Victoria Daily Times, October 2, 1903

On Tuesday the lecture hall of the Metropolitan Church presented a living spectacle. The lecture was simply a scene with good things to eat. The Sunday School workers of the city and surrounding country did ample justice. No efforts had been spared to make the gathering a success.

The members of the Young Men's Christian Association and their friends gathered at the Y.M.C.A. building Wednesday Evening for the purpose of celebrating the inauguration of the work for the ensuing year.

It is understood that Architect Rattenbury submitted several designs for the new C.P.R. hotel to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy when he was here on Saturday.

At a late hour Tuesday Evening one of the motormen on a Port Street car came across what appeared to be a somewhat intoxicated gentleman standing in the middle of the track, near the Oak Bay junction. Closer investigation proved that it was but a dummy, evidently prepared with the greatest care by some lovers of a practical joke. In order not to be the only victim, he left it for the benefit of the other motormen, and it wasn't long before all on the route had hastily stopped their respective cars in order to avoid running down what was supposed to be a man.

The City Council had a short sitting last evening. The Yates Street Paving By-law was finally passed, allowing of work beginning next year, early in the Spring. Aldermen Cameron and Yates were absent.

To-morrow will be Provincial election day. This evening the Liberals will hold their last rally in the A.O.U.W. Hall.

The Real Dutch Oven

THE ant hills which abound in Southern Africa form convenient natural ovens. A hole is cut through the clay-like shell at the bottom and the fire built up inside, which is honey-combed like a sponge. Ordinary cooking is done on top of the dome, but for Bread making the oven is thoroughly heated and the fire drawn. The bread which is made from flour, baking powder, or sourdough, is then placed inside, the oven sealed with clay and left until baked.

HOW vastly different to the giant travelling ovens of the modern Fourx Bakery, where oven heat is automatically regulated to the fraction of a degree and over 3,600 loaves 4X are scientifically baked to perfection every hour.

SAYS JAPANESE DESERVING OF APPRECIATION

Fukuma, Consul-General at Vancouver, Says Countrymen Do Not Seem Welcome

Helping to Develop Natural Resources; Shows Trade Growth

The rapid development of Canadian trade with Japan, especially in British Columbia, was the subject of an address before the Comox District Canadian Club on Friday evening by T. Fukuma, Japanese Consul-General at Vancouver.

Mr. Fukuma pointed out that the lumber importations of Japan in 1927 were valued at $1,500,000, of which ninety per cent came from North America. Importations from the United States have been stationary for some years, but the Canadian trade has enjoyed great development in exports to Japan.

"It is interesting to note the growth of Canadian lumber exports to Japan during recent years, particularly in comparison with those of the United States. In 1925 Canada's export was only one-third of that of the United States; whereas in 1927 it was one-sixth. Of Japan's total imports in 1925 Canada supplied one-fourth; in 1926, one-twenty-sixth; and in 1927, one-ninth," Mr. Fukuma said.

Lumber shipped overseas from Vancouver during 1927 amounted to 484,000,000 board feet, of which exactly fifty per cent, 242,000,000 board feet, were consigned to Japan, the value being $27,000,000.

"Vancouver is exporting about fifty per cent of the total lumber exported to Japan, and this amount is increasing all the time; and there is no reason why it should not continue to increase, and even more rapidly," the Consul-General considered.

FIR DOMINATES

The principal species of rough lumber from North America imported into Japan in 1923 and 1924 were Douglas fir 40 per cent, cedar 21 per cent and hemlock 30 per cent.

"Douglas fir is similar to Japanese Matsu, although a trifle lighter and softer, and is much used for bridge construction, shipbuilding, railway cars and flooring. Japanese Matsu is superior in quality but, large, straight timbers are difficult to get, and Douglas fir is used more where heavy timbers of great size are required."

"Red cedar is lighter and weaker than Japanese Sugi, but on account of its durability it is very useful for outside purposes."

"Hemlock is whiter than Japanese Toga, also lighter, softer and easier to work on, and it expands but does not warp. It is becoming increasingly popular of late."

GRAIN TRADE

Discussing development of Vancouver as a grain port, Consul-General Fukuma said:

"One cannot fail to see the part the Orient, in particular Japan, is playing and will play in the grain trade of Canada. In 1920 there was no export of wheat from Canada to Japan, but in 1921 the export was worth $3,000,000. United States and Australia are Canada's competitors in this market, but Canada is well in the lead with exports worth $1,000,000 last year."

"Other important items of Canadian export to Japan are pulp, lead and zinc, dried and salted fish, and aluminum and its manufactures. Last year the total export to Japan was over $33,000,000, and Japan rates from third to fifth every year as an importer of Canadian goods."

SILK INDUSTRY

"Of Japanese imports into Canada silk, of course, is the most important, over $6,000,000 last year. Japan exported in 1927 silk to the amount of $770,000,000. The greatest amount went to the United States, 90 per cent of the whole. In fact, France stood second, Great Britain third, and Canada fourth."

"It was only after 1860, when silk was sent to foreign markets for the first time, that it came to be produced for export purposes, and its rapid development has since taken place."

"Silk is Japan's staple commodity on the export list, supplying about 60 per cent as against 21 per cent of China and nine of Italy in the total consumption of the world."

"According to reliable information, during the first half of last year, Vancouver's share of the silk import of the Pacific Coast was more than 44 per cent."

SHIPPING PROFITS

"There is one more item of invisible trade; that is the money Japanese boats are spending in Vancouver. In 1920 only fifteen Japanese boats came in. The number has been increasing every year, until last year the maximum was reached with 160 boats. Each boat, I should say, pays something around $1,000 for provisions, also harbor dues, pilotage, port, warehouse fees and watchmen's salaries."

NOT WELCOMED

"Here in Canada, particularly in British Columbia, you see Japanese people engaged in the development of the natural resources of the country. They are exploiting the Canadian soil, and nothing else. Therefore they deserve a certain amount of appreciation from Canada and the Canadian people; but this they do not get. On the contrary, it does not seem to us that they are welcome to this country. On their part they are thankful to be able to keep their families here, and to make a living and advance as much as possible. Under this feeling of gratitude they are doing their best in their callings because they know only in this way can they thank Canada and British Columbia."

"One of the best ways to mitigate or further to eradicate the anti-Japanese, or anti-Oriental feeling is for Canadians to visit Japan and see things as they really are over there."

ESQUIMALT I.O.D.E. ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. F. R. Wright, Mrs. Booth and Mrs. J. T. Jones on Executive

The office of first vice-regent of the Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., formerly held by the late Mrs. Henry Croft, was conferred on Mrs. F. R. Wright, for some years second vice-regent, by the unanimous vote of the members at their meeting held yesterday afternoon at "Clovelly," the residence of Lady Barnard. Mrs. Booth was chosen as second vice-regent and Mrs. J. T. Jones consented to undertake the duties of secretary. Mrs. C. P. Hill was elected delegate to the semi-annual provincial meeting which will be held in Nanaimo.

The chapter decided to hold the regular monthly meetings at the Municipal rooms in future, and to alter the date from the first to the second Monday in each month.

The recent report on the recent visit of the British schoolgirls and the part taken by Lady Barnard on herself representing the chapter in their entertainment, she reported also on the lunch held in honor of the members of the Amputation Club.

Much interest centered around the secondary education work. A bursary was voted to assist a local girl through Normal School, and a gift of $10 was voted to Robert Irving, who won the Confederation bursary given by the chapter last year at Lampson Street School, and this year headed his class in first year High School. The education secretary reported that twelve members attended the opening exercises at Lampson Street School. She stated that highest honors had been awarded on that occasion to Kathleen McIntyre, the daughter of one of the members of the chapter.

Mrs. Sisman requested that members let her know how many calendars they would require, and in consequence of their ready response an order for forty copies will be sent to headquarters, including those for presentation to the local schools. Mrs. Booth gave a brief report on child welfare work.

Two new members were elected, Mrs. Withers and Mrs. Cresline. After business was concluded, Lady Barnard entertained the members at tea. The reception rooms were beautifully decorated with Michaelmas daisies and single dahlias.

Kansas was one of the earliest States to try prohibition. They tell a story of a Kansas City bishop who was obliged to visit a town some miles distant in his ministerial duties. He arrived in a drizzling rain, turned up his coat collar and paced the station platform, waiting a carriage which was to convey him to the church. He noticed four suspicious-looking cases on the platform and said to the baggage-man: "Shipping some eggs?" "I'll let you into a secret," said the baggage-man. "The bishop is coming down to-day and the clergy is getting in a little St. Louis beer for 'his stomach's sake.'"

He's always done right, he says, and even when he went to Niagara Falls he was thoughtful enough to send his wife's mother a souvenir postal card of the whirling rapids." "Aren't you affectionately," I wish you were here."

But we know that Gene Tunney is not marrying for money, because he could get it so much easier by fighting for it.

MISS BECKWITH PRETTY BRIDE

Popular Girl Wed Last Night to Frances J. White

The marriage of Grace Dean Beckwith, only daughter of Mr. John L. Beckwith and the late Mrs. Beckwith, to Mr. Francis J. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph White of Montreal, was solemnized by Rev. James Strachan at First Baptist Church last night.

The church was effectively decorated with baskets of golden rod and Michaelmas daisies and tall white taper candles. She carried a bouquet of a pretty Gothic arch garlanded with flowers. As the bride party entered the church, Mrs. McCoy Jamieson's choir, of which the bride was a member, sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." Mr. Jesse Longfield was at the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was very lovely in a gown of smoke-white georgette with lace gracefully draped and skirt falling softly in correspondingly uneven hemline. Her only ornament was a string of pearls. The bride veil of Brussels net was held in place by a dainty pearl coronet.

She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, lilies of the valley and white heather. Miss Dorothea Hay attended the bride and wore a French frock of peach georgette and lace with large picture hat trimmed with velvet of a deeper tone. She carried a bouquet of bronze tinted roses and maidenhair fern. Little Jean McLeod Beckwith, niece of the bride, made a sweet little flower girl, dressed in pale blue georgette with bandeau of bebe roses on her hair and carrying a dainty basket of bebe roses and white sweet peas.

Mr. Harold A. Beckwith, brother of the bride, assisted the groom, and the groomers were Mr. Robert S. Yates and Mr. Ira Dillworth. During the signing of the register the choir sang "O Perfect Love."

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Beach Hotel, Oak Bay, where the bride and groom received the congratulations of their many friends under a beautiful wedding bell.

Mrs. H. A. Beckwith and Miss Winifred Beckwith, cousin of the bride, assisted in receiving the guests. Mrs. Beckwith wore a gown of cinnamon velvet with hat en suite, and Miss Beckwith was becomingly attired in a frock of reseda green crepe with hat of reseda felt and moire. During the reception Mrs. R. N. McIntosh, Mrs. W. A. Jameson, Mrs. Thea Siggel, Mrs. W. E. H. Godson, Dr. H. Johns and Mr. H. A. Beckwith gave vocal selections.

Of Interest to Women

LEADING LADY'S JOB IS NO SINECURE, SAYS STAR

Miss Marie Blanche Designs and Has Charge of Costumes As Well As Heavy Role in Revues; Thrilled With Canada.

"Why, I saw her thirty years ago on the stage! How does she do it?" "Oh, well, you know how these actresses take drugs, and do nothing but lie in bed all day. That's how they do it."

This delectable bit of conversation was overheard by Miss Marie Blanche's maid in the course of her South African tour with the revue, "Bits and Pieces," and was related by the star with much relish to a Times reporter between the acts in her dressing-room at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night.

The pretty leading lady of George Robey's company quoted this as one of the many instances in which former Old Country theatre-goers had confused her with her aunt, Miss Ada Blanche, former well-known star of the English stage who is now over sixty years of age and is living in retirement.

NEITHER DRINKS NOR SMOKES
Far from taking drugs, Miss Blanche is unusually abstemious, for she neither drinks cocktails nor smokes—thus shattering many cherished illusions about modern actresses. But no one could work as hard as she does and retain their freshness and beauty if they "burned the candle at both ends."

Her part in the revue is strenuous, the ten-minute interval between the two acts being the longest time in which she has to change, so frequently is she on the stage and so many are her changes of costume and make-up. In addition to carrying this heavy role of leading lady, she has charge of the entire costuming of the revues. In "Bits and Pieces" there are 300 costumes, most of which she designed—and incidentally the colorings are unusually beautiful and striking—and she has undertaken all the costumes for the new revue, "Between Ourselves," which is to be presented for the first time on Thursday.

THRILLED WITH CANADA
Many hours of daily rehearsal for the new revue have prevented the company from accepting much of the hospitality which has been tendered to them throughout their Dominion tour.

MARIE BLANCHE

"We have been simply overwhelmed with kindness since we first set foot in Canada, and it has been heart-breaking to have to rehearse when we have been dying to accept the many wonderful invitations we have received," she sighed. "But the success or otherwise of our new revue has been hanging like the sword of Damocles," as Mr. Robey says, over our heads; and we have all of us been working very hard to make it the best yet."

With a spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm, Miss Blanche told of her thrill at the first sight of the Rockies.

"I have been in Africa, in Australia and many other parts of the world, but I have never seen such wonderful scenery anywhere. They are breath-taking in their grandeur. But the whole of Canada is wonderful. It has been a most thrilling experience for all of us, and although it is our first visit to the Dominion, we all hope it will not be the last."

Everywhere Mr. Robey and his company have been greeted with the greatest enthusiasm, and the reception in Montreal exceeded anything they have ever experienced, even in London, according to Miss Blanche. She is going back to the United Kingdom a self-appointed adviser of Canada and Canada's hospitality.

JUNIOR CHAMBER SET FOR ACTION

Will Recommence Year's Activities at General Meeting Next Week

After a holiday from meetings during the summer the Junior Chamber of Commerce will recommence its activities with a general dinner meeting next Tuesday, October 9. Secretary Harold Palmer announced this morning.

Several matters of importance will come before the members at next week's meeting. Chief among them will be a further development in the proposal for an auto ferry to Salt Spring Island. It is probable that a committee will be named to proceed to Salt Spring Island in company with a group from the Saanich Board of Trade, when the matter will be thoroughly discussed with the Salt Spring Island Development Association, which organization has been pressing strongly for the inauguration of a service.

GOVERNMENT SUPPORT

In a speech before the Chamber of Commerce recently Premier S. F. Tolmie intimated the Government would give the fullest support possible to the project, and it is reported plans are well under way toward the completion of the scheme.

The Junior Chamber members will also have to pass upon the proposed reception for Percy Williams, world's sprint champion, who is expected here next week. It is hoped to hold a field day at the Willows on October 10 in conjunction with Percy's visit here.

NANCY PAGE

FLASHLIGHT SHADOWS
AMUSE SICK JOAN
By Florence La Gankle

Aunt Nancy was worried. She blamed herself for the whole thing, though. She had let Joan go to the beach and stay in the water too long. She was so interested in her own son that she let her vigilant care of her little niece slip. It didn't happen often, and Nancy was properly regretful. So here was Joan in bed with a cold and bad tonsils. Of course, that meant a trip to the hospital soon to take out the offending tonsils. But just now she was in the querulous, fretful mood which children—and grown-ups as well—acquire when they are sick enough to feel badly but not sick enough to require constant attendance.

As she lay in bed tossing and turning Joan kept calling Aunt Nancy to come and tell her a story. Aunt Nancy had an inspiration. She hunted up an old flashlight of fair size in which the battery was good and strong. She gave this to Joan who amused herself for hours by putting a hand in front of it and throwing shadowgraphs on the wall. She spotted out the dark corners of the room and made pools of flashing light where the light happened to catch the mirror.

Uncle Peter made a light weight bedside tray for her by cutting a piece of beaver board. Aunt Nancy let Joan decorate this with crayons. The art was wonderful—quite modern in fact.

THE USE OF EVAPORATED MILK IN LACTIC ACID FORMULAS

Evaporated milk has come into prominence within recent years because of its advantages in feeding infants. It is easy to obtain everywhere, is of uniform quality and, because of its sterilization and heating, the milk curds are very fine and the fat is homogenized and not easily separated out. Evaporated milk is fluid, unsweetened milk, and needs only the addition of an equal quantity of boiled water to make it the equal of fresh cow's milk. Because of its cooking it lacks some essential vitamins, but these are replaced in the child's diet by the use of orange or tomato juice. Good dairy milk is impossible to obtain in many communities and evaporated milk is a valuable substitute for it.

USE OF LACTIC ACID

Dr. McKim Marriott's method of utilizing evaporated milk with lactic acid is published in the September, 1927, Journal of the American Medical Association. It is of extreme interest to all mothers who are using this type of feeding because of its simplicity of preparation. In fact, it is so easy that anyone could do it successfully, one very good reason for its adoption.

With this method one ounce of water is allowed for each ounce of evaporated milk, and ten drops of acid for each ounce of the evaporated milk or five drops for each diluted ounce. Instead of mixing the acid with the milk, it is first mixed with the water and the corn syrup. This results in a mixture of water, acid and corn syrup, which is shaken together and kept in a covered jar in a cool place. At feeding time (or before) the correct number of ounces of evaporated milk for one-half the entire feeding is put in a feeding bottle, and the other half of the feeding is made up of the water-acid-syrup mixture. The two are shaken together, until well mixed, heated slightly, and given to the baby.

IN PREPARING FOR ONE QUART OF A FORMULA, THE ACID-SUGAR-WATER MIXTURE ADVISED IS ONE PART OF WATER, ONE TEASPOON OF LACTIC ACID AND SIX TABLESPOONS OF CORN SYRUP. THIS IS SHAKEN TOGETHER AND AT FEEDING TIME IS ADDED TO THE EVAPORATED MILK, HALF OF EACH.

Thus if the baby takes a six-ounce feeding, three ounces of evaporated milk added to three ounces of the

MENUS FOR THE FAMILY

By SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Cantaloupe, cereal, whole wheat and date muffins, milk, cocoa. Luncheon—Potato and parsley soup, toasted cheese crackers, spinach timbales, rye bread, children's sponge cake, lemonade.

Dinner—Spanish steak, twice baked sweet potatoes, buttered beans, cold slaw, frozen junket with fresh peaches, cake, milk, coffee.

Children's sponge cake is an excellent plain cake made without butter. It makes a good substitute for a real sponge cake using twice as many eggs.

CHILDREN'S SPONGE CAKE

One and one-half cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 cup granulated sugar, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, milk, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder and sugar three or four times. Break eggs into measuring cup and fill with milk. Add to dry ingredients and beat hard for five minutes. Beat in vanilla and pour into an oiled and floured cake pan. Bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

Cream can be used in place of milk if a slightly richer cake is wanted. Hard beating ensures the success of this cake.

above mixture will make the feeding. One can see how valuable this would be for travelling, when only one bottle can be prepared at one time, and it is said that because of the high acid content of the water-syrup mixture that it will keep in an ordinary room temperature for several days.

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give advice to mothers regarding the general care and diet of their babies. A self-

Yanks' Hopes Will Be Dim Through Many Injuries to Regulars

New York Would Be Better Fitted to Play Series in Hospital Ward; Lazzeri, Koenig, Dugan, Gehrig, Ruth and Combs Suffering From Injuries; Cardinals Came Through Hot National League Race Without a Bruise; 80,000 Fans to Witness Opening Game

New York, Oct. 2.—If they would only play this world's series in a hospital ward the Yankees would win without a struggle. As it is the better think the St. Louis Cardinals are going to repeat their world's championship victory of 1926. And, being gentlemen of firm convictions, they are ready to back their judgment by putting down $10 on the line against $7.

While McKechnie spends his spare time gloating over the fact that his Cardinals came through the strenuous National League pennant battle without so much as a bruise, Miller Huggins turns his wistful eyes to the Yankees' ranks and sees nothing but the lame, halt and blind. Bandages are as much a part of the Yankees' equipment as gloves. The pungent aroma of arnica and iodine discloses the presence of other casualties who on the surface appear almost hale and hearty.

HAS CONFIDENCE

But strangely enough, Huggins is not ready to bury his hopes of another world's title to add to those he won in 1923 against the New York Giants and last year, when his clubbing circus made the ferocious Pirates of Pittsburgh seem quite tame by comparison.

Some of his cripples day by day are getting better and better. Besides, Huggins has a "lot of confidence" in his team.

But there's no gainsaying that the Yankees are going to catch the first game of the series on Thursday badly handicapped. Pennock, as good as a world's series pitcher as baseball history can name, will not be in his mysterious rival batmen with his left-handed slant. Nor will Willy Moore, who also was one of the games against the Pirates last fall. Waite Hoyt, George Piggas and Tom Zachary will have to bear the burden this time.

INFELD WEAKENED

Most of the infield would appear to better advantage in a hospital than on the ball field. Tony Lazzeri, who can throw overhead only at the price of excruciating pain in his left arm, is at second base. Mark Koenig, suffering from a sore foot, will limp about shortstop territory. Lou Gehrig, struck in the face by a batted ball in the game of the regular season, will do his first base work with a pair of swollen lips, but otherwise is in sound health. Joe Dugan's accustomed place at third base probably will be taken over exclusively by Gene Robertson, who is untried in series fire.

Bob Meusel and the one and only Babe Ruth will be in the outfield, although the latter is troubled by a trick knee.

COMBS MAY PLAY

Centre field duty probably will be divided between Cedric Durr and Ben Paschal, although there is a possibility that Earl Combs' injured wrist may mend fast enough to let him into the lineup before the series ends.

In sharp contrast to these misfortunes, that have already cost the Yankees quite ready for the series. The club is in first rate shape, with Bill Sherdel, Jess Haines, Grover Alexander, Clarence Mitchell and Flint Rhem all ready to do the pitching.

SHERDEL AND HOYT

Indications are that Sherdel and Hoyt will pitch the first two games here and that Alexander and Gehrig will pitch the third game at St. Louis on Sunday. For reasons easily understood, Huggins is extremely uncertain as to how he will work his pitchers, but it is generally agreed that he can start no one but the well-known Hoyt. Piggas possibly will shoulder the burden in Friday's game and Zachary will get the call on Sunday. All the reserved seats for the opening game at the Yankee Stadium have been sold, but forty thousand unreserved tickets will go on sale the day of the game. Prospects are for an opening crowd of close to 80,000.

FINE FIGHT CARD BILLED

Good Programme of Bouts For Saturday Night; Fielding to Meet Lewis

A splendid card has been arranged by promoter Joe Baer for the boxing show to be staged at the Sons of Canada Hall on Saturday, commencing at 8:30 o'clock. A number of outside fighters will be seen in action against local boys and the programme looks like one of the best staged in Victoria for some time.

The complete card follows: Main event—Island Junior Lightweight Champion, 10 rounds: Tommy Fielding vs. Dave Lewis. Semi-windup—Four rounds: Tim Keist, Victoria, vs. Jackie Newman, Vancouver.

Four rounds: Jumbo Davies, Victoria, vs. Art Manning, Vancouver. One hundred and thirty-five pounds—Four rounds: Charlie Bradshaw, Victoria, vs. Chris Lungdon, Swanes, Wales.

FIVE C'S WORKOUT

The Five C's Senior Football Club will hold a workout to-morrow night at the First Presbyterian Gymnasium at 9 o'clock. A full turnout of all players and executive is requested.

CARDINALS HAVE EDGE IN BOXMEN

Haines, Alexander and Sherdel Expected to Turn in Victories

Huggins' Staff Overworked; Pitching Has Always Decided Series

New York, Oct. 2.—Pitching has played a predominant part in the decision of the world series through the baseball ages and the star boxmen largely have run true to form.

In the impending battle between the Cardinals and Yankees, two trayed and overworked staffs will be pitted against each other and the big question is whether the rival hurlers will be able to match the form they have shown through the regular campaign.

Although Miller Huggins says his pitching "will take care of itself," any edge in the box rests with the Cardinals. Jess Haines had an erratic season, but finished with nine straight victories and eight complete games. He "figures" as the Cardinals' starter, even against a crew of left-handed batters, such as the Yankees.

SHOULD GET BREAKS

Wes Willis Sherdel lost two tough games to Pennock in the 1926 series, which is one good reason for supposing that he will win this time. If there is any justice in the law of averages, Willis will take the close ones in the forthcoming battle.

Old Alex the Great is forty-one in the year of this array, but he still is Alex the Great and many of the Yankees remember it. Another veteran, Clarence Mitchell, the southpaw spitballer, has a mean way of making strong batters weep over that dinky curve. He "hasn't got a thing" but many clubs cannot hit it, particularly the Cardinals. Against this array, Miller Huggins must hurl an overworked Zachary, an uncertain Piggas, a veteran Hoyt and no Pennock at all.

ROGERS TOOK CROWN

In 1923, when Babe spent twenty-three days under suspension, Rogers Hornsby snatched away the crown with 42. Again in 1925, when Ruth was ill, Hornsby, Williams and Gehrig sat with Ruth as the only men who ever bettered 40 in a major league season, while the Bambino is all by himself in the 50 class and the 60. His grand total for his big league career is 470. Here is a comparison of Ruth's totals with those of his main rivals since 1918:

- 1918—Ruth, 11; Walker, Athletics, 11.
- 1919—Ruth, 29; Cravath, Phillies, 12.
- 1920—Ruth, 54; Sisler, Browns, 19.
- 1921—Ruth, 59; K. Williams, Browns, and Bob Meusel, 25.
- 1922—Ruth, 25; Hornsby, Cardinals, 42; Ken Williams, Browns, 39.
- 1923—Ruth, 41; Cy Williams, Philadelphia, 41.
- 1924—Ruth, 45; Hauser, Athletics, 27; Fournier, Browns, 27.
- 1925—Ruth, 25; Hornsby, Cardinals, 39; Bob Meusel, 33.
- 1926—Ruth, 47; Wilson, Cubs, 31; Goslin and K. Williams, 17.
- 1927—Ruth, 50; Gehrig, 46.
- 1928—Ruth, 59; Wilson, Cubs, and Bottomley, Cardinals, 31.

Jackie Fields Stops Thompson

San Francisco, Oct. 2.—Jackie Fields, sensational young Los Angeles fighter, reached the heights last night when he gave Young Jack Thompson, the Oakland negro who recently stopped Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, a terrific beating in ten rounds at the States Armory. A record-breaking crowd of 10,000 fans saw Fields bombard Thompson to win seven rounds and have the negro almost out on his feet in the last two rounds. Two rounds were credited to Thompson and one round was even.

Handy Hands for Rugby By Jimmy Thompson

The old theory that oarsmen have a weakness for rugby is at last proven. When the Argo squad started their training this year there was all kinds of good material, especially from the lower ranks of Herby Bointon's team, who showed the boys how last fall. But the big surprise was the appearance of no less than two oarsmen of real note. One was the world-famous Joe Wright Jr. The other was Freddy Burns, who made more than a name for himself at the Dominion Day regatta.

Young Joe is bigger than ever. At the English Henley he weighed 176 pounds, and now he tips the scales at 194. He has already made a name for himself on the Canadian gridiron and it is expected that this will prove to be a banner year at football. One thing that helps Wright is the fact that he has such tremendously large hands to wrap around the pig-skin when he snaps the ball out. He can well carry his extra weight and is an ideal build for a snap-back. Joe will bear watching, for he is off to the greatest year of his rugby career.

$60 FOR SEAT AT BALL GAMES

Ticket Scalpers Asking Fabulous Prices For Tickets to World's Series

New York, Oct. 2.—That many baseball fans, wishing to attend the Yankee-Cardinal world series games here, will have to pay through the nose, as usual, was clearly indicated by the activities of ticket scalpers yesterday, as the contending clubs took their first warm-up for the opening game on Thursday.

"Take it or leave it," was the independent attitude of the scalpers. They were about asking $50 for seats for the three games, originally priced at $15.50. "If you don't pay that now you'll pay more later."

The current "quote" on a single box seat for the three local games was $60 as compared with the list price of $19.18. It was evident from these early quotations that the scalpers have visions of recouping in full measure the losses they sustained in "loading up" for Sunday's finale between the Cardinals and Giants only to discover that the game, once so important in prospect, had become a mere exhibition in actuality.

The Yankee management, inundated with details surrounding preparations for a record world's series crowd of 75,000 or more at the opening game, found time to-day to issue a statement in which they advised the fans to avoid the speculators and do business at the box office. There were accommodations for all, the Yankee office declared, although admitting at the same time that the reserved sections were cleaned out.

Those who failed to have their reservations honored before the curfew was rung early on Saturday morning still can see the games by going to the stadium early enough to buy their way into the unreserved sections before these seats, 40,000 in number, are sold. Half of these are in the covered stands, retailing at $3 each, and the rest are in the bleachers at $1 a head.

Out-of-town visitors already were crowding the downtown hotels with the big rush expected to-morrow.

Former Calgary Junior to Play With Black Hawks

Vic Ripley, of Kitchener, and Dolly Dolson, of Stratford, are the only two Canadian Pro League players who have advanced to the National Hockey League. Ripley was drafted by the Chicago Black Hawks, who will be managed by Herb Gardner this winter, while Dolson was sold to Detroit. It is also reported that Harold Hicks of Stratford is to be given a trial by the Montreal Maroons.

Ripley is one of the many youthful Canadians developed from Eddie Poulin's Junior Canadians, who have made good in pro hockey. He helped the Canadiens win the Canadian championship and then went to Minneapolis for a couple of winters. He was with Kitchener last winter and led the Montreal Pro League in goal scoring. He has been spending the summer in Calgary and will leave October 15.

REIGH COUNT

BARELY SAVED FROM FLAMES

Famous Three-year-old Led From Stable By Quick Thinking Stable Boy

Horses Valued at $200,000 Lost; Believe Fire Was of Incendiary Origin

Chicago, Oct. 2.—John H. Hertz's racing stable near Cary, Illinois, in which were quartered Reigh Count, 1928 Kentucky Derby winner, and fourteen other thoroughbreds, was destroyed by fire last night of mysterious, possibly incendiary origin.

Eleven thoroughbreds valued at more than $200,000 were burned to death. Reigh Count, who is generally regarded as the premier three-year-old of the United States track, was brought unscathed from the burning barn by a quick-thinking stable boy, Jimmy Allen.

Anita Peabody, another star of the Hertz stable, known as the two-year-old champion of 1927, also was saved.

VALUABLE HORSES LOST

Among the animals lost were Leona, Sanda Pan, Insula, Sanda Bar, St. Lucia, fillies by Black Sam, Kohnkora and Sir Galahad, and fillies out of Whiskbrook and Luanna.

John Hertz, owner of the Model Stables, is chairman of the board of directors of the fellow cab company. Two large garages of the cab company were bombed Sunday night. The fire at the Hertz farm following within less than twenty-four hours of the two bombings, was seen by Chicago police as another violent gesture on the "taxi war" which flared a week ago when a taxicab driver was shot dead.

USED OIL

Cary officers found several indications of incendiary. Fire broke out simultaneously at opposite ends of the long brick barn, they said. There were indications that oil had been used to give the flames quick headway. A gate at one end of the grounds had been broken down.

VANCOUVER WILL PLAY SATURDAY

To Oppose Victoria Team in Opening Game of "Big Four" Canadian Rugby

Varsity, Last Year's Champs, Look Strong; New Westminster After Title

Canadian rugby will be formally ushered for the season at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon when the Victoria representatives oppose Vancouver in the opening game of the "Big Four." No starting time has been set for the match but it most likely will get under way at 3 o'clock.

Varsity were originally scheduled to play here, but owing to the fact that several of their players have not yet returned to their studies they were forced to cancel the engagement in favor of Vancouver.

Introduced three years ago, the Canadian style game has gone over big in Victoria. A large percentage of the star English rugby players have switched to the new game and are making rapid strides. The local team received good support last season and good crowds are looked for at this year's fixtures.

LOCALS IN SHAPE

Under the coaching of Ernie Cook and Dick Wilson, the Victoria team rounded into shape and is confident of being able to hold its own with the remainder of the teams in the loop. The league consists of teams from Victoria, Vancouver, Varsity and New Westminster. Although the majority of last year's local stars are missing a number of promising youngsters have turned out and are taking to the game like ducks to water.

NO WORD HAS BEEN RECEIVED ON VANCOUVER TEAM BUT THEY ARE EXPECTED TO HAVE ALL THEIR LAST YEAR'S PLAYERS ON DECK AGAIN.

VARITY STRONG

Varsity, last year's champions, will trot out a formidable array of stars again this season. They have lost Camozzi, Todd, Helmar, Currie and Anderson, four of last year's team, but their places will be filled with good men.

Among the newcomers, Gittus, the former Kist, is a real find. He has everything that a good quarter needs. He is fast, can handle a ball well, run and kick with any man on the square. Dixon is keen and knows the game from the ground up. Ollanders, one of the latest acquisitions, is a speed merchant of no mean ability and may be heard from before long. Rhodes, another new recruit, assesses a hefty boot. It was his first day out and he did not have a chance to show what he could do, but he should accomplish plenty. He weighs 200 pounds.

New Westminster, the fourth club in the loop, will be stronger this season. They are out with a new lineup and their team has been practicing hard the last month in preparation for the season's opening.

AL ESPINOSA LEADS FIELD

Clicks Off 142 to Capture Qualifying Round in Annual Pro Tourney

Baltimore, Oct. 2.—Al Espinosa won the qualifying medal in the eleventh United States Amateur Open, Professional Golf Association, which got under way yesterday.

The young pro from the Illinois Country Club turned in 142 over the difficult Five Farms course of the Baltimore Country Club, to lead the nearest rival, Tommy Armour, by four strokes in the thirty-six-hole qualifying round. Sarazen was in third place with 149 and finished ahead of his particular rival, Walter Hagen, who won the medal as well as the championship last year, but could get no better than a tie for fourth with a total of 150.

George Christ of Rochester, N.Y., and Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., tallied the same as the "Hale."

Low scores were few and few were good enough to qualify. How well Espinosa was playing yesterday was shown by the fact that he made four both times on the tenth hole which is a water hazard almost to the death. It was there Hagen met disaster.

Hagen is pitted against Willie Ogg in the draw for match play which got under way this morning. Sarazen plays Bill Mearns, and Armour encounters Jim Barnes.

LOUGHRAN WINS OVER JACK GROSS

Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, world's light-heavyweight champion, won the decision over Jack Gross, heavyweight of Salem, N.J., in a slashing ten-round boxing bout at the National League baseball park last night. Loughran's title was not at stake, as he entered the ring weighing 185 pounds. Gross scaled 202 pounds.

BOWLING TEAMS ENTER LEAGUES

Twelve Squads Expected in Two Leagues; Five-pin Enthusiasts Meet To-night

Entries for the City and Commercial Bowling Leagues will close on October 10. It was announced at a general meeting of the two leagues held in the Arcade Alley last night. On that date meeting of the two leagues held in the schedule drawn up.

At present prospects are good for an excellent season. In the City League four teams have already entered, and two more are expected, while in the commercial loop five have stated their intention of playing.

Teams already entered are as follows: City League—Colonist Night Owls (last year's champions), Colonist, Victor Photograph Company and James Island. The Eagles and Five Roses. Four are expected to enter this division and complete the six-team loop.

Commercial League—Cableship Restaurant, "A" and "B" teams; Poodle Dog Cafe, Stocker's Express and Victoria Baggage. It is expected that the Eagles will enter this league also.

CUP DONATED

This year a fine cup has been donated by Horace Reed of the Poodle Dog Cafe for the squad getting the highest average in the Commercial League.

All bowlers interested in five-pin bowling are requested to attend an organization meeting to be held to-night in the Arcade Alley at 8 o'clock. Several teams have intimated their intention of entering this league.

QUALICUM MAN IN AUTO CRASH

Charles Markley Unconscious When Car Leaps Cliff

Chilliwack, B.C., Oct. 2.—George Stapleton and three other persons in his car narrowly escaped death on the Vedder Mountain highway, fourteen miles east of Abbotsford, when Mr. Stapleton swerved his auto quickly to avoid crashing into a car ahead that had stopped suddenly. When he had almost brought his car to a stop it slipped down a steep grassy decline, plunged over a forty foot cliff and crashed on the B.C.E.R. track.

Indian Agent A. O. N. Daunt of New Westminster and Constable H. J. Harding of this city were at the scene soon afterwards. Unable to descend the cliff, they walked down the road and back on the track for a mile before reaching the victims. Charles Markley of Qualicum Beach, Vancouver Island, was unconscious inside the

FIRST HOCKEY GAME HERE NOVEMBER 20

Opening Dates For Pro Hockey League Announced To-day

Games Will Be Played in Victoria on Tuesday Nights; League Opening Will Take Place at Vancouver on November 19; Schedule Will Be Drawn Up At Annual Meeting in Seattle, October 22

Frank Patrick released the dates of opening contests in the four cities forming the Pacific Coast Hockey League this morning. Victoria's opening night will be Tuesday, November 20. The official league opening of the season will be on Monday, November 19, at Vancouver. Thursday, November 22, is Portland's opening night. On Friday, November 23, Pete Muldoon's Seattle tribe will be at home.

Although the playing schedule will not be approved until the annual meeting of the league in Seattle, on October 22, these opening dates will stand, and it is also learned that Vancouver will have Monday nights for hockey throughout the playing season, which embraces eighteen home games.

TUESDAYS AT VICTORIA

Each city in the circuit will have the same hockey nights each week. Tuesday for Victoria, Thursday for Portland and Friday in Seattle.

When the play-off system will take will be determined in Seattle. League officials were unanimously in favor of the playoffs in all earlier conferences.

INDUSTRIAL POWER RATE UNDER FIRE

City Moves to Investigate Its Powers to Develop Own Supply

Wide Discrepancy Reported Between Vancouver and Local Rates

Asserting that new industries, otherwise disposed to locate in Victoria on the offer of suitable sites and the assurance of abundant water, were being turned away on account of what he claimed as an undue difference in the rates charged for electrical energy here compared with Vancouver, Alderman H. O. Litchfield called for investigation into the city's powers to develop hydro-electric supply on its own behalf in a brisk appeal to the City Council last night.

There was no immediate suggestion that the city should compete with the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, continued the chairman of the industrial committee, but to his mind the time was fast coming when water power rights and the development of hydro-electric energy on Vancouver Island would be taxed to the utmost, and when that time came the city would know its position in regard to its watersheds.

BRITISH CAPITAL

There was an abundance of British capital available for the same development of electrical energy, he assured the Council, reading a report from the industrial committee, also signed by Aldermen J. B. Clearhue, E. S. Woodward and John Harvey. The report read as follows:

"Your committee begs to call the attention of the City Council to the serious situation which has developed regarding the supply of electric power for industrial purposes in the City of Victoria and surrounding districts. Your committee has been in negotiation with several concerns regarding establishing plants in the city, and such concerns have been satisfied with the sites we have been able to call to their attention and with other general local conditions; but owing to the rates quoted for the supply of electric power being so much higher than charged for similar concerns in the City of Vancouver, other advantages were considerably discounted, and our negotiations had to be broken off."

SEEKS REPORT

"It is recommended, therefore, that the City Solicitor and City Engineer be asked to bring in a report on the whole question of the supply of electric light and power, and as to what authority the city has to develop its own system of supplying electrical energy."

"It is clear that the British Columbia

INDIGESTION, GAS AND SEVERE PAIN

Of the thousands of people whom Tanlac has saved from the misery of Indigestion and Stomach Trouble, none are more grateful than Mr. Fred Hill, 349 Thames St., London, Ont. "I had about given out altogether," he says, "and was going down hill so fast that I thought nothing could stop me. I ate only two light meals a day and even then suffered untold agonies from indigestion, gas and pains that just doubled me up. My nerves were wrecked; every bone in my body ached; I could not sleep; and just felt sick all over."

"Tanlac fixed me up so I could eat anything from soup to dessert without having indigestion. And my other troubles vanished like smoke. I picked up twelve pounds and never felt better. I never thought anything could do for me what Tanlac did."

Tanlac corrects Stomach Trouble and builds up the whole system because it is nature's own remedy for the sick—roots, barks and herbs. Remember, your money back if it doesn't help you so get a bottle at your druggist's to-day.

E. SANDE QUIT TRACK LEAVING UNIQUE RECORD

Famous Jockey Never Had Ride Questioned During Brilliant Career

Won More Purse Money Than Any Other Jockey; Had Mania For Winning

Earl Sande, quitting the "saddle" to train and race a stable of his own, leaves behind him an unusual and a unique record.

Never once in his long and brilliant career was a ride of his ever questioned or suspected. His reputation for honesty was so firmly established that in many cases bets were placed on his mounts because of the rider rather than the class of the horse.

Everyone always knew that with Sande in the saddle his horse would have to give everything he had.

AFTER THE BREAK

Sande was disciplined for rough riding tactics and the other jockeys complained bitterly that he could get away with anything. But they knew and the stewards knew that it was Sande's mania for winning that prompted him to take advantage of every opportunity to get the breaks for his mount.

"I want to thank you and congratulate you for your manly and honorable connection with the turf as a jockey. You never have done anything that has brought discredit on a noble sport."

RELAY FEATURE OF CHILDREN'S GALA ON FRIDAY

High Standard of Swimming Expected in Inter-school Meet

Excellent Prizes Offered For Winners of Various Events at Crystal Garden

Much interest is being shown in the inter-school relay race which is to be staged at the annual school children's gala, under the auspices of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, at the Crystal Garden on Friday evening.

Last year Oak Bay High School won the event with Victoria High a close second. Both schools are expected to enter teams this week and some keen competition is expected.

MANY FINE PRIZES

Many excellent prizes have been offered for the various competitions. Beside the Canadian Legion Cup for the winners of the boys' under fifteen relay, the Anscombe trophy for the life-saving contest will be at stake. In addition to these, I. W. Aude, manager of the Crystal Garden, has donated two season swimming tickets for those who come first in the boys' and girls' under fourteen fifty-yard races.

Many entries have been received from pupils of the Boys' Central, Tillicum, Royal Oak, North Ward, West Saanich and Craigflower Schools, and many more are expected before the gala takes place.

GREAT VARIETY

A much higher standard of diving is expected this year. Owing to the addition of another dive in both the girls' and boys' competition a greater variety of stunts will be performed by the youngsters who have been showing remarkable style in practices at the Crystal pool.

As the races are graduated for children from the ages of eleven to seventeen, practically every youngster, who can swim the distance in a reasonably fast time, will have an opportunity to compete with children of his own age. The events for the older boys and girls will afford swimming judges an opportunity to estimate the capabilities of the city's young swimmers with a view to entering them in the junior British Columbia championship events to be staged in forthcoming championship gala.

Widener, president of the Westchester Racing Association, and the cheers of thousands ringing in his ears, Earl Sande picked up his little saddle and walked into retirement.

HEALTH IMPERILED

One of the greatest jockeys that ever sat in a saddle, Sande felt his health imperiled by the obligation of making weight and retired from the riding profession to become the owner and trainer of his own new stable.

He wanted to close his career with a victory, but the great Reigh Count prevented him from achieving this honor by beating his mount, Chance Shot, in his last race.

In all his career, no ride that Sande ever made was ever sand and with any kind of suspicion. Those who bet knew always that any horse with Sande up was being ridden to win. And he won more purse money than any other jockey.

Every year the youthful competitors have shown improved form in the annual event. This is being noticed by members of various clubs who have considered the possibility of coaching the youngsters for higher competitions.

Arrangements are being made by the V.A.S.C. to have the best swimmers in the city give demonstrations after the gala and to swim exhibition races to show the younger talent the correct strokes and methods of starting and turning.

At the conclusion of the event, George Jay, chairman of the Board of School Trustees, will present the prizes to the winners of the various events.

Pimples Itched And Burned Badly Cuticura Healed

"Pimples broke out on my nose and spread all over my face and body. They were hard, large and red, and festered and scaled over. The pimples itched and burned so badly that I scratched, and scratching caused many eruptions. They were so painful that I could not sleep, and used to cry from the pain. The trouble lasted two years."

"I purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using them two days I found they were helping me. I continued the treatment and after using four boxes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Lucy Kinakin, Vergin, Sask.

If both councils agree on the new boundary the plan will be registered. ## JOINT CAMPAIGN IS DECIDED UPON

Victoria and Vancouver Will Co-operate in Prairie Advertising

Victoria will again co-operate with Vancouver in a campaign of winter advertising on the prairies, it was decided by the directors of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau at luncheon to-day.

Brenton S. Brown, president of the Vancouver Publicity Bureau; Charles H. Webster, publicity commissioner, and Morgan Eastman, advertising agent, came over from Vancouver to discuss the campaign with the local directors.

A proposal was submitted by Victor Clarke, of the Crawford-Harris Advertising Agency, that Victoria should conduct the prairie advertising on her own as in many cases people coming to the coast from the prairies remained in Vancouver altogether or spent just a few days in Victoria and the remainder of their holiday on the Mainland. He thought a direct appeal from Victoria would be more beneficial to this city and suggested a plan under which Victoria would receive sufficient coverage in all the leading daily papers on the prairies for the same amount of money they would spend under the co-operative plan with Vancouver.

Mr. Eastman submitted the plan for the joint campaign and displayed a set of several advertisements which he had already drawn up. Six of these advertisements would appear in nine leading daily journals on the prairie and in two or three other publications, and 100 per cent coverage would be obtained, he said.

After some discussion it was decided to continue the joint campaign as in the last few years and to leave the details of the advertisements in the hands of David Fleming, the chairman, and Commissioner George I. Warren. The local directors were in favor of more frequent insertions of the advertisements and advanced this proposal for consideration.

Seventy-five householders registered for the city voters' list at the office of the city clerk yesterday and to-day. Registration will continue throughout the month, ending on October 31. Only registered property owners are listed automatically; householders and housewives having to take the customary declaration before their names will be placed on the list.

TEACHERS BUILD CHILDREN INTO GOOD CANADIANS

Kiwanis Club Addressed By Thos. W. Hall on Schools and Scholars

Introduced by President C. Elwood Watkins as the major factor in the success of the Victoria Day parade, Thomas W. Hall, principal of the George Jay School, to-day addressed the Kiwanis Club luncheon at the Empress Hotel, speaking on the development of boys and the work of schools and school teachers.

The problem of the child is of more importance than any other factor in education, Mr. Hall pointed out. Touching upon difficulties incident to eradicating bad habits, Mr. Hall told of a boy who persistently said "I have gone" fifty times as a penalty, and having done so, left the task with the following note: "I have written 'I have gone' fifty times and I have gone home."

GOOD READING
"If we teach our children to appreciate real literature, when they grow up they will not read types of magazines we see exposed for sale on newsstands," he said, pointing to the effect of training in development of good taste in clothing, art, color, as similar instances.

NO FAILURES
Mr. Hall considered that children should be provided with a variety of study courses in order that individual adaptabilities might be suited. He denied that any child was born a failure, remarking, "the stone which was rejected becomes the corner stone in too many instances to permit of classing any children as born failures."

"The efforts of 2,000 teachers of British Columbia are devoted to the development of children as stones in a magnificent edifice, reared by pioneers and Empire Loyalists and now named Canada," stated Mr. Hall. "We build," he declared, pointing out that the objective is to turn out young citizens who, without brag or undue humility, will look the world in the eye and say "I am a citizen of no mean city. I am a Canadian."

"Gentlemen, you are builders. I, as representing so many teachers, would like to come under your banner and say, 'We build, also,' he said in closing.

A strong party of Kiwanians will visit Nanaimo to-morrow to attend a joint dinner with the Nanaimo Kiwanis Club.

Bruce Hamilton rendered two baritone solos, accompanied by Cecil Heaton.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, Oct. 2. — Wheat: Local wheat market was decidedly strong to-day and after opening quiet to half higher based on the fine grades prices climbed 3/4 to 2 1/2 above last night's close, getting through the daily offer the market holding surprisingly well throughout. Seaboard houses and mills bought a little wheat at the start, but export business overnight and this morning was reported as small. Seaboard estimating sales in all positions at around 300,000 bushels. The buying appeared to be largely local in character with offerings not as large as might be expected with the tremendous movement that is going on in this country from farmers. When speculations Monday created a record for one day in Western Canada, being 3,416 cars.

Local sentiment is turning more friendly to wheat and it is believed that Europe will be forced to take large quantities from North America during the next four months. In addition, India is buying and the cable market is taking Argentine and Australian wheat for deferred shipment. The Orient is in the market for low grade wheat and flour. The cable market was quiet to-day, the demand being less urgent due to the upturn in the futures market. Spreads were about unchanged to a fraction lower.

Farmers are said to be holding their top grades, selling lower grades only. This may make it difficult to secure sufficient wheat to deliver on the contract, as the pool are not selling locally at the present time, but report they are satisfied with the export business that is passing. Weather in the West continues very favorable for threshing operations. The market is showing a surprisingly strong tone and looks like going higher, but we advise purchase only on the set-backs for moderate profits.

Coarse grains—These markets were all higher, largely in sympathy with the strength in wheat, but there was excellent buying of rye with export business reported, and shorts forced to cover. There was buying of barley to fill old contracts but no new business was reported. Oats were strong, but there was a very light business passing with little for sale. Oats closed 1 1/2 higher, barley 3/4 to 1 1/4 higher, and rye 3/4 to 3/8 higher.

Flax: The market advanced in sympathy with the strength in the general grain list, closing two cents to 1 1/2 higher. Trade smart with only a moderate interest being shown by crushers.

Calcutta Luck

A Thrilling Story of Fate and the Famous Sweepstake

By E. C. BULEY

"He ought to; he beat all these easily enough at Newmarket. Of course, it's a tricky course, and the best of colts can have a turn of bad luck. But I'm not expecting to be beaten."

Then Parachute was led forward; and at a respectful distance a big crowd gathered about him. John could hear them asking questions about himself and Joan, and overheard also some strange guesses at their identity. But one onlooker either knew, or guessed correctly.

"That's the girl who drew Parachute in the Calcutta," John heard him say. "She has nothing to do with the Masters of the crowd at all. They'll be along presently, I expect; but old Conran hasn't much use for Masters and his friends."

"Yes, here they come," said one of the women to whom this information had been given. "That's Mrs. Allen Franklin, as she calls herself now. Overdressed as usual; they say Franklin cleared out of London to get rid of her."

Joan, who had been patting Parachute and chatting to the trainer, drew back as Dickey arrived on the scene. Waring was in attendance, with Masters and Angus Gordon walking a little behind them. Dickey Franklin was talking loudly, and in excited fashion.

When she saw John Blake she darted away from Waring, and addressed herself to Blake in her loudest tones. "How are you, Mr. Blake? Have you heard the latest? My husband has been sighted again. Did you hear about it?"

Conscious that people were staring curiously at him as well, Blake admitted that he had been told as much.

"They say he'll not be in time for the race," Dickey continued. "But he'll be in time for the setting, Mr. Blake. If you want to see some fun, you stick along with Allen, when he asks for a statement of accounts from Waring and Dolf Masters."

She was talking as much to the onlookers as to John; and she was certainly talking at the two men whose names she mentioned with such clear precision. Beyond looking anxiously uncomfortable, Waring and Masters ignored her loud chatter.

"Well, good luck, Mr. Conran," John said. "Come along Joan."

THE RACE

Of all the spectacles afforded by Derby day, the parade of the runners is perhaps the most beautiful and the most interesting. In Indian file, each with a smart lad in galers leading him, and each with his bright-coated jockey in the saddle, a score or more of magnificent three-year-olds walked proudly along the smooth green track. They seemed to know that the eyes of half a million people were riveted upon them, scanning their perfections, and noting their signs of strength and courage.

"Oh, the lovely things!" Joan exclaimed. "Oh what darlings!"

Third in the parade went Parachute, the big red colt, which looked like some living thing wrought of burnished gold. Marsden sitting easily in the saddle, was resplendent in a jacket of purple and gold, with a cap of brilliant scarlet. Behind him hurried another colt of striking appearance, a grey which was almost white, with an iron-grey mane and tail. He was the hope of France in the Epsom Derby, a colt called Gigolo.

These two, it seemed to Joan, were more perfect in proportion and more striking in appearance than the bays and browns which were their companions; though some of these were splendid animals also.

And while she looked, the parade ended. The lad who had led the horse foremost in the parade released him, and the jockey wheeled him about, cantering smartly back past the stands in the direction of the paddock. Then it was the turn of Parachute to be freed, and a murmur of admiration rose from all quarters as the big colt swept past the stands with long easy strides. Gigolo, the striking grey, also made a good impression with his easy action, and showed an impatience to be given his head.

Presently the horses could be seen, crossing the course to reach that point on the track where the starting gate had been erected for the despatch of the Derby field. Down in the betting ring the confusion and noise grew to an intolerable uproar. "Parachute is at two to one only," said a voice near John. "Nobody seems to trouble about backing anything else."

Blake looked at Joan with a reassuring smile, but the girl shook her head. "He'll never win, John," she whispered. "The bookmakers will not let them. They always prevent the favorite from winning the Derby."

"It would be interesting to know how they are to set about it," Blake said drily. "I'm no authority on the subject, but I fancy that notion is derived from cinema films and sensational fiction."

"I think they are going to start now," Joan replied. "Look; they are all clustering together."

But the starting of a field of a score of high-mettled three-year-olds is no simple matter, as these two interested spectators were now to learn. Time after time, it seemed as though the horses were all in a line; but just as expectation of a start ran highest, one or more would swing around, or recoil backwards from the barrier which barred the track beyond the starting line. A great crowd, pressing as near the starting post as possible, had the further effect of scaring the nervous colts. As the minutes flew away, the confusion and disorder seemed to increase at the post.

"This is certainly a nerve-racking business," Blake remarked, lowering his glasses for the twentieth time, as the line of horses dissolved into hopeless disorder. "I suppose a fair start is most important."

Joan could only shake her head hopelessly.

"Want to get it over, John?" she said. "It's like waiting at the dentist's."

Joan gave a long sigh of relief. "Can you see, John?" she asked. "All I can make out is a blur of color and movement, with the grey horse quite distinctly to be seen near the head of it."

Blake knew that his own hands were shaking, so that he had little good to be said. By an effort of will he steadied himself, and the swift-moving field took a clear shape in his view.

"If you can see the grey horse, you must look just in front of him, for the purple and gold jacket. There are some horses in front of him. One—two—three. Only three. He is fourth, and the grey is sixth."

They were careening up the hill, on the far side of the course, and already the field had strung out into a long line. A strange silence had fallen upon the crowd, broken only by an occasional remark from the excited watchers. A horse in a white jacket singled out from the others, just as they were reaching the end of the long ascent; and his dash to the front elicited the first loud shout.

"Wait-a-while," people called, identifying him. "He's leading. Wait-a-while!"

"Parachute is still in the same position," John reported. "I suppose it isn't time for him to race after that one with the white jacket. The race has not much more than begun."

"Is he still in front of Gigolo?" Joan wanted to know. "I can see him plainly, because he is a lucky grey horse."

"And Parachute seems to be at most level," Blake answered. "But it is not easy to see them now, because of those bushes."

They were racing along the far end of the course, the white jacket of Wait-a-while showing the way.

"Parachute can go to the front whenever Marsden lets him," announced an authoritative voice nearby. "He has been in a splendid place, ever since the barrier rose."

"So has the French horse," argued somebody else.

"Gigolo is going extremely well," conceded the first speaker.

The field emerged from the partial screen of the gorse bushes; and a second later a great shout arose.

"Parachute! The favorite! Parachute!"

"What is it, John?" Joan asked. "Why are they shouting?"

"Parachute is second," Blake explained. "He is overhauling the leader fast. You can see him for yourself; the horse which is catching up the white-jacketed leader."

"Yes, I can see him," Joan cried. "He's beating the grey horse already. He's in front now. How they shout!"

Downhill to Tattenham Corner swept the horses, with Parachute forging ahead already. Marsden was sending him along, evidently determined to be first round the crucial bend at Tattenham Corner. And, as Joan remarked, the crowd was already shouting the favorite as the winner.

"Parachute! Parachute! Parachute!" "Now the grey is coming in pursuit," John called. "Can you see him?"

Joan nodded, pursing her lips tightly. She wanted to call aloud, as so many people around her were calling; many of them smartly dressed women. It would have been a great relief just to make some big noise. But Joan felt she must not do that; she must keep herself well in hand.

The field was very close to the corner now, and Gigolo had slipped past all the others, except Parachute. At this point, it seemed to Joan, the slope was very steep; and it also seemed that the leaders were racing faster than ever.

Around the corner slipped Parachute, with little or no room to spare between his golden bulk and the white rail.

"By Jove!" Blake murmured. "That took some doing. Only a master could bring a galloping horse around there, with so little to spare."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Big Bang

(Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Certainly this is very queer," said Uncle Wiggily to himself, as he was hopping into the Hollow Stump School from which a few seconds before had come a loud noise like a firecracker. "I let Jackie and Pettie go to the store for Nurse Jane's sugar. Those puppy dogs beg some empty paper bags of the Grocery Cat and when I get to school I heard a shot and Jackie Bow Wow tells the Lady Mouse Teacher that he made the noise with one of my bags of wind. I have no wind bags."

And when the rabbit gentleman hopped into the room where Jackie and Pettie recited their lessons he was just in time to see Jackie walk up to the Lady Mouse Teacher's desk carrying a paper bag which had been blown up with air or wind and then had been burst by Jackie smacking it between his paws as you have often done.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! I'm so glad to see you!" squeaked the Lady Mouse Teacher. "Did you hear what happened?"

"I heard what sounded like the backfire of an auto," spoke Mr. Longears. "Jackie made the big bang by bursting one of your paper bags in school," said Miss Mouse. "And, what is more."

"He jumped out."

he and his brother Pettie have a lot more empty paper bags which I am afraid they will crack during the day and scare us all."

"No, they will not do that," said Uncle Wiggily. "For I am going to take the paper bags from them; what is, those that can still be blown up and cracked, and he marched down to the desks of the doggie boys and took out half a dozen paper bags."

"They are your bags of wind and, of course, you should take them away," said Miss Mouse. "But I wish, Uncle Wiggily, you had not given those bags of wind to the doggie boys to bring to school to make noises. It disturbs the class."

"My bags!" cried the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose twice as fast in his excitement. "They aren't my bags! Jackie and Pettie begged them of the Grocery Cat when I get to school I heard a shot and Jackie Bow Wow tells the Lady Mouse Teacher that he made the noise with one of my bags of wind. I have no wind bags."

After trying in many ways, but without doing it, to catch Uncle Wiggily, the Fox at last decided to give an auto, and the Fox was coming near when, all of a sudden Mr. Longears thought: "And I'll catch him, too!" laughed the Fox as he saw the rabbit just ahead of him and made the auto go faster.

Poor Uncle Wiggily hopped as fast as he could, but he was no match for an auto, and the Fox was coming nearer when, all of a sudden Mr. Longears thought: "I'll blow up a paper bag, make a big bang and the Fox will think one of his tires has blown out and punctured. He'll stop to look and then I can get away."

Synopsis by Bracken.

A CIGAR-BOX VIOLIN

The easiest musical instrument to play is the one-stringed violin. To make it you need a cigar-box of the fifty-cigar capacity. Scrub off the paper, taking care not to get the box so wet it will warp. Take off the lid and draw the two figures. These can be cut out with a fret-saw. For the handle you need a piece of hard wood, walnut or mahogany, 30 inches long.

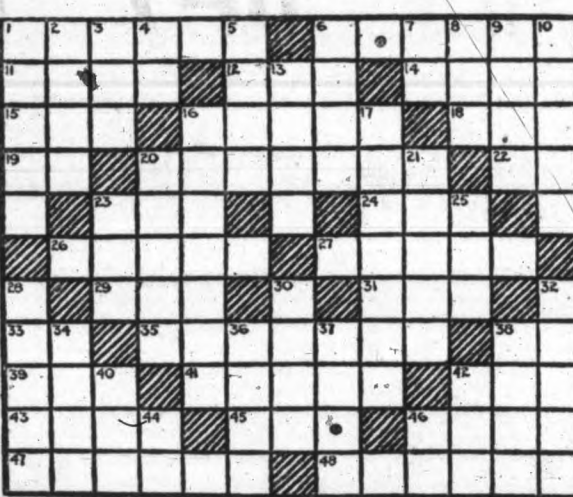

Cut notches into the top of your box and fit the handle, gluing it. Then glue on the lid, reinforcing it with a couple of brass screws.

Cut a hole about one-third-inch in diameter near the end of the handle and fit the peg as shown here. The peg should be tapered so it will stick.

You need two pieces of hardwood, as shown here, one to be used as a bridge, the other as a stop. The bridge is placed at A and the stop at B. These can be cut from boxwood and glued into position. You can buy at any music store an "A" string and bow at a small cost. Be sure the string is double-length, so it will fit. Now you are ready to play.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1928
This is a day of contradictory influences, according to astrology, which finds benefic and adverse aspects contending.

It is well to distrust one's judgment under this way and to avoid impulsive action. Small matters may seem unusually like some.
The rule may incline both men and women to find fault with their places in life and to suffer from a discontent far from divine.
The users point out that this is a period of transition when all that is to be eliminated gains conspicuousness.

It is well to nurse one's job instead of watching for all the objectionable features. This is not an auspicious time to change employment.
Farmers may be especially susceptible to the planetary rule to-day, which is likely to bring discouraging matters into prominence.
All the signs appear to be favorable to persons who have places in the sun. All political candidates will be inclined to be confident under this direction of the stars.

While this is a favorable day for making new acquaintances it is not a lucky day for romance. Summer flirtations do not crystallize into bona fide love affairs while this rule continues.
Persons whose birthdate it is probably will have a busy and prosperous year, but they must avoid whatever favors of in-trigue or concealment. These subjects on Virgo often excel as chemists and for their great achievements are predicted within the next ten years.
Children born on this day probably will be foremost in scholarship. Many writers are born under this sign of Virgo which is supposed to encourage supreme achievements.
